

Hydroscand UK, Enhancing Security with Advanced Surveillance Solutions

Hydroscand UK, a subsidiary of the international Hydroscand Group, has been a prominent player in the hydraulic and industrial hose market since its establishment in 2002.

As part of a global company founded in 1969 in Stockholm, Sweden, Hydroscand UK has grown significantly over the past two decades, expanding its operations to include eleven trade counters and thirty mobile hose workshops across the country.

Overview

Recognising the need for a more robust security solution, Hydroscand UK switched their security provider to Equilibrium Risk, and discovered:

- Enhanced Surveillance Accuracy
- Improved Risk Management
- Quantifiable Results

Would you go back to your old provider?
“No!”

Security Challenges

Prior to engaging with Equilibrium Risk, Hydroscand UK relied on a traditional CCTV system for their surveillance needs. While the company was generally aware of potential security risks, they faced challenges with their existing setup, primarily due to poor quality footage and limited functionality.

Decision to Upgrade

Recognising the need for a more robust security solution, Hydroscand UK embarked on a straightforward decision-making process to evaluate alternative options. Equilibrium Risk out from competitors due to our emphasis on easy communication and customer-centric approach.

Implementation & Benefits

After careful consideration, Hydroscand UK chose to implement our advanced surveillance system. The transition has yielded significant benefits for the company:

- Enhanced Surveillance Accuracy: Our state-of-the-art technology has provided Hydroscand UK with more precise and reliable surveillance capabilities.
- Improved Risk Management: The new system has enabled better identification and mitigation of potential security threats.
- Quantifiable Results: Hydroscand UK has been able to measure the positive impact of our services, confirming the value of their investment.

Client Satisfaction

The success of our security solution is evident in Hydroscand UK's commitment to the new system. When asked if they would consider reverting to their old service, the response was a resounding "No", underscoring their satisfaction with the improved security measures.

Conclusion

As Hydroscand UK celebrates its 20th anniversary in the United Kingdom, Equilibrium Risk is proud to contribute to their continued growth and success. By providing a tailored, effective surveillance solution, we have helped Hydroscand UK address their security challenges and create a safer environment for their operations.

This case study demonstrates the importance of adapting to evolving security needs and the tangible benefits that can be achieved through partnership with a dedicated security management provider.

About Equilibrium Risk

Equilibrium Risk is a leading security management company dedicated to providing tailored Risk-Based Security Solutions.

Our USP focuses on supporting business growth through effective, balanced security. We help clients find the right equilibrium between security investment and operational efficiency.

If you would like to know more about how we can support your business growth, please get in touch.

W: equilibriumrisk.com
E: enquiries@equilibriumrisk.com
T: 01484 505321